

THIS TIME
TOMORROW

The Spa

A private spa at Dar Al Dall, where traditional Moroccan wellness practice is fused with contemporary design. Four rooms: a wet area, a heated marble rest area, the hammam, and a dry area that opens onto the courtyard.

The Signature Treatment moves through all four over a hundred minutes, conducted by our in-house therapist.

Marrakech · 1,200 MAD per person · 100 minutes
In-house therapist · Advance booking essential

Dar Al Dall

THE SPA

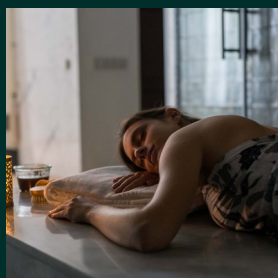

The wet area opens the sequence — shower jets for a refreshing and invigorating cleanse.

Then the heated marble rest area, designed for warmth and quiet, and the hammam itself: a traditional steam bath that purifies the body and calms the soul.

The dry area closes it, with a Moroccan Botanist infusion and fresh fruit, looking out on the courtyard.

The Hammam

THE TREATMENT

A hundred minutes with our in-house therapist, for those seeking deeper indulgence. The treatment moves through the four rooms in turn.

The wash. Moroccan black soap, worked in and rinsed, then a loofah scrub. A hair mask if you would like one.

The mask. A seven-plant aromatic Ghassoul clay from the Atlas Mountains, applied over the body and left to draw while you rest in the hammam.

The polish. An argan oil-based body polish, once the clay is washed away.

The massage. Forty minutes on the feet and lower legs, to close the treatment.

Afterwards. A Moroccan Botanist infusion and fresh fruit in the dry area, which opens onto the courtyard.

The Reservation

Advance booking is essential. The spa is open from 10 AM to 7 PM daily.

Purify the body.
Calm the soul.
Stay a while.

thistimetomorrow.io